

2020 UNDERGRADUATE SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAMS

SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM OVERVIEW

The mission of The ELC's Undergraduate Scholarships is to build a pipeline of Black corporate talent by supporting the academic achievement and development of Black undergraduate and graduate students.

The ELC offers seven undergraduate scholarship programs:

- Three are designed for students pursuing business degrees.
- One is designed for students currently enrolled in a mechanical or chemical engineering program.
- One is designed for students pursuing degrees in business, insurance and risk management, or a related field.
- Two are designed for students pursuing degrees in STEM, Business Management or a related field.

Scholarships are awarded to students who demonstrate academic excellence, leadership skills, and a commitment to community service. In addition to receiving a scholarship award, the students are invited to participate in The ELC's Honors Symposium.

HONORS SYMPOSIUM

The Honors Symposium introduces The ELC's scholarship recipients to a wide range of business-related careers and industries to increase the number of future Black business leaders. Our goal is to help fill the pipeline of Black corporate executives from the classroom to the boardroom.

The Symposium is a four-day professional development experience comprising a series of events and meetings that connect and expose The ELC's scholarship recipients to leading corporate executives and hiring managers from major global corporations. During this experience, the scholarship recipients participate in career development opportunities and enriching social activities.

The scholars also attend The ELC's Annual Recognition Gala where they are recognized on stage before an audience of more than 2,300 corporate, education, civic and community leaders.

SCHOLAR TESTIMONIAL

"From listening to various panels to participating in networking sessions, I learned what it means to embody black excellence. The ELC is committed to enabling and empowering the next generation of young talented Black business professionals to lead the world. I am blessed to have had this experience."
